ABOUT ME

According to my experience, A Good programmers aren't defined by their knowledge but by their ability to learn, adapt, and solve problems. When I start my journey in IT field I got different types of problems and I faced with them. some was easy and some are hard to solve but none was Impossible to solve these problems. I was happy to solve it and my every mistakes makes me more confident to solve it. As a programmer we need to get ready to face different problems, errors and bugs.
